

Bowman's Root

Porteranthus trifoliatus

- ❁ Lovely in a mass planting where its lacy white flowers can shimmer in a light breeze - think Gaura for shade!
- ❁ Compact, rounded plant, topped in late spring with ethereal white flowers, red petioles and mahogany stems. Foliage often turns deep bronzy red in fall. Interesting form and unique seed heads persist into winter.
- ❁ Also known as Indian Physic, Fawn's Breath or American Ipecac
- ❁ Native to Ontario
